

Come and enjoy BC Nature with us!

Enjoy birding, botany, geology and marine biology; join in camps, field trips and more in communities throughout BC. Participate in local stewardship projects such as restoring a marsh, monitoring bird life, caretaking important habitat, providing nest boxes, removing invasive species or helping run a nature house. Join a local nature club for these activities, plus monthly speakers and social activities. The benefits of membership include our quarterly magazine, participation in our field camps and spring and fall conferences. Your membership give's strength to the provincial naturalist voice that BC nature provides.

Getting involved with nature is as easy as joining any of the local clubs throughout B.C., which means you would also be a member of BC Nature. Or you can directly join BC Nature as a "Direct Member". Check out our website for a club nearest you! www.bcnature.ca or phone 604 985 3057.
