

BC Nature Vice-President

BC Nature (Federation of British Columbia Naturalists) is seeking a Vice-President. The VP is a member and officer on the Board.

The VP has few designated duties under the BCN bylaws but is expected to help fulfill the President's duties and generally takes over as President at the end of the sitting President's term(s). Some of the VP's duties include:

- Being an active member of the Board while learning about BC Nature, its governance, staff, office, clubs, memberships and other aspects of the Federation.
- Assisting the President in his/her responsibilities.
- Taking on specific assignments to assist the President or the Board.
- Temporarily assuming the authority and responsibilities of the President in the absence of the President.
- Chairing the Human Resources Committee and, at the discretion of the Board, other committees.
- Helping to prepare agendas for meetings.

In the event the office of President becomes vacant, this office shall be filled by the Vice-President until the next BC Nature general meeting.

Requisites for this volunteer position include experience within BC Nature or one of its Federated Clubs, and could include:

- Previous experience on the BCN Board or one of the standing committees;
- Previous experience at the board level with other volunteer organizations or NGOs;
- Active participation at the BCN regional or club level;
- Leadership in employment or volunteer situations;
- Some experience with budgets and financing of a volunteer organization;
- Willingness to work as a team participant and leader;
- Willingness to learn about BC Nature and its Federated Clubs.
